

A Special Focus on ANZACATA

The Australian, New Zealand and Asian Creative Arts Therapies Association (ANZACATA) is an international professional organization that uniquely embodies the mission of our journal and its commitment to East-West dialogue and cooperation. The editors are grateful to the contributing authors for their involvement in this issue and we strongly encourage future submissions exploring Eastern and Western perspectives from the ANZACATA community. We admire the Association's journal, ANZJAT <https://www.anzacata.org/Journal>, as a leading international publication and hope that the East-West focus of this journal can complement it through its focus on China and its neighbors. ANZACATA members are doing so much on an ongoing practical basis to realize the aspirations of Creative Arts in Education and Therapy: Eastern and Western Perspectives and we look forward to ongoing cooperation.
